Terror suspect, Rasheed Muhammad, was arrested on Tuesday, January 30, at approximately 1:32AM EST at John F. Kennedy International Airport. This marks the first successful story following President Trump's executive order to protect the nation from foreign terrorist entry into the United States. Muhammad, 32, was questioned due to the heightened security measures that resulted from the presidential executive order. The suspect attempted to enter the country with a tourist visa and claimed to be visiting family in order to attend this year's Super Bowl LI.

Former Attorney General, Sally Yates, who was ousted by President Trump after failing to support the executive order, released a public apology via popular social media, Snapchat.

"I would like to express a sincere and utter apology to President Donald J. Trump. Due to unforeseen circumstances, there is no way I could have predicted the outcome of the situation. If afforded the opportunity to continue my position as Attorney General, I would be more than ecstatic to comply,"

Officials are waiting to release an official press statement. FBI Director, James Comey, commented "We are unsure if accomplices are still at large. Until matters are addressed, we will keep additional details from the public eye. The security of our nation is the number one priority."

The terror suspect is currently detained by local authorities and requested a public defender. The White House Press Secretary declined comment until after the release of an official press statement.

Dr. Laura Schleswigholstein sure he did... Most wanted man in the world..living in the rubble of mountain life on dialysis ... Not shown on camera, not displayed. Killed and buried at sea... How convenient. Especially when reports of even higher credibility, showed he died years prior. But Obama.... Right...

This is fake. Rasheed Muhammad was arrested yesterday would be the truth - but it is unfortunately not. At least there is not one shred of information about in the any major media outlet. Also they quote the NY times with an .mx address. Not quite sure that the NY times has a mexico web address. Its fake.

Dave Mathis - I would expect it to be blasted on the front page of FOX NEWS at the very least. Which it is not. The MSM is biased. But no one would deny that a major terrorist would be arrested the FBI would announce a press release, it would be international news in minutes. Also, Tump himself would have congratulated himself on twitter. This is fake. I wish it were true. But its not

Dave, open your mind, man. The truth can be found, but never by fighting against it. Anger, rage, hate cannot be defeated by acting out in anger, rage, or hate. We're all hoping for a better world.

Sue Schullery omg I am not saying this is a true story because I do not know this media source but if you think Snopes is a reliable source for truth and a final say on a story you are sadly mistaken. They already have been exposed once. Did you ever ask your self how a married couple know everything and what resources are used to get their information? Exactly who is watch dogging them to make sure they are legit anyway??? I guess if it's on the internet, it must be true. Smh

Lou Calabrese, lol.....snopes might not be what it once was, but a simple google search shows at least 50 'fake news' sites reporting this and not ONE real news site. Not even Fox News, which you know would be blasting this as loud as possible....FAKE NEWS!
